

PANSINI & MEZROW

MICHAEL O.
 PANSINI

"Trial Attorneys help people!" declares Michael Pansini. The thing he's proudest of professionally is that the law firm he started nine months out of law school in 1986 has obtained numerous multi-million dollar verdicts and settlements that benefit not only his clients but the public as well.

EXTRAORDINARY
 RESULTS BENEFIT
 ORDINARY PEOPLE

As the son of one of the premier union stonework contractors in Manhattan, Pansini worked on many construction sites from his teenage years right up to law school. This experience came in handy when he represented a 22 year old construction worker who was seriously injured due to the disregard of worker safety on a construction site. During the third week of a protracted jury trial, Pansini resolved the young man's claim for $16.175 Million, one of the largest for a single construction worker in Pennsylvania history.

Other significant results include:

- $15 Million settlement for two Norristown firefighters and two residents against a public utility due to a natural gas explosion. (Largest resolution against public utility in Pennsylvania history.)
- $6.6 Million settlement for child and grandmother due to improper placement of a utility pole. (Largest utility pole accident resolution in Pennsylvania history.)
- $3 Million jury verdict for realtor against her insurance company and lawyer. (Largest bad faith compensatory damages verdict in Pennsylvania history.)

TEAM APPROACH: Pansini has always believed in the "team" approach to litigation. "Clients benefit when several lawyers are involved in their cases. That's what they get at Pansini & Mezrow." Some eight years ago Pansini looked for a skilled trial attorney who was also dedicated to fighting for the rights of injured people. The attorney who joined his firm was Steven Mezrow, a well-respected trial attorney with a reputation for being tenacious and aggressive. In fact, during a recent trial the jury admirably referred to him as the "pit bull." Mezrow has played a significant role in many of the firm's successes.

Although Pansini & Mezrow have had several seven and eight figure resolutions, smaller cases don't drop below their radar. Their mantra has always been: "We pride ourselves on loyalty and commitment to our clients. If they are wronged, we will be there for them."
